Financial Update
Financial Analyst Keri Clark presented a financial update to the Commission, including an overview of Article 39 sales tax, the primary revenue source for the School Capital Fund. Ms. Clark shared updated January sales tax collections since the March 30 meeting and an updated revenue forecast of approximately $30.2 million. After accounting for the $4.1 million reallocated earlier in the fiscal year, the School Capital Fund is projected to receive approximately $26.1 million in available revenue.

Ms. Clark also reviewed the Commission's two primary expenditure categories: debt service and project spending. Debt service projections were updated to include the estimated cost of the 2026 LOBs debt issuance, increasing anticipated annual debt service by approximately $5 million over the next five years. With this issuance, debt obligations are projected to continue through 2046.

For project spending, excluding recently closed projects, the Commission currently has 86 active projects, 69 for Buncombe County Schools and 17 for Asheville City Schools. Approximately $56 million of the $57 million in approved project funding is expected to be included in the 2026 LOBs debt issuance. The remaining projects and funding will continue to be monitored for future debt issuance or pay-go funding opportunities.

Discussion and Consideration of New Funding Requests
Financial Planning and Analysis Manager Matt Evans reviewed the funding requests presented at the March 30 meeting. Asheville City Schools requested $2,188,186, and Buncombe County Schools requested $52,400,000 in phased funding for FY27. Based on the current and projected condition of the School Capital Fund, the recommended funding capacity is approximately $10 million to $15 million.

Mr. Evans explained that the Commission's current funding capacity could support Buncombe County Schools' highest priority project, the $28,000,000 WD Williams Elementary Renovations, along with Asheville City Schools' highest priority requests totaling $2,188,186, including the repurposed funds for the Asheville High School Security project.

Mr. Evans then presented two funding scenarios based on the pending decision regarding a General Obligation (GO) Bond referendum. If the Board of County Commissioners proceeds with a GO Bond referendum, the $28,000,000 cost of the WD Williams project would ultimately be offset by bond proceeds. Asheville City Schools' priority projects would be funded through pay-go, allowing the Commission to fund an additional $8,995,000 in priority Buncombe County Schools projects through pay-go as well.

If a GO Bond referendum does not proceed, the WD Williams project would instead be financed through the regular LOBs debt issuance, and the Glen Arden Construction project would require phased funding. Adding the $6,000,000 phased cost for Glen Arden would increase the additional project funding request to $14,995,000. Mr. Evans concluded his presentation by reviewing the projected fund balance impacts under each scenario.

Vote on Projects to Recommend to the Board of Commissioners
During discussion, the Commission considered Asheville City Schools' request to begin the design phase of the Asheville High School Security project before the November referendum. Since the full project would likely be funded through the GO Bond if approved, Asheville City Schools requested funding only for the design work during FY27. The Commission agreed to amend the proposed FY27 funding list to include only the design costs for the Asheville High School Security project and Front Steps Repair.

Commission Chair Terri Wells moved to approve the FY27 funding list with the amendment to fund only the design portion of the Asheville High School Security project and to amend the no-referendum project list to include the repurposed project funds for the security project. The motion was seconded by George Sieburg and passed unanimously.

The approved FY27 funding recommendation totals $30,146,500. Depending on the outcome of the GO Bond referendum, staff may also bring forward an additional $8,995,000 or $14,995,000 in project funding through future budget amendments.
